3. Problem Areas

a. The continued low fill rate at FLC places this division in a serious supply posture.

CIVIL AFFAIRS

1. Contacts with Officials. Continued to try to maintain close liaison with GVN officials in those communities where the Division is operating. This now encompasses three provinces, eleven districts, approximately 100 villages and countless hamlets. It is a formidable task.

2. Disaster Relief. Early in the period work was completed on the hamlet in Hoa Cuong village destroyed as a result of a plane crash. On 10 September families moved into the 66 homes constructed mainly by personnel from the 3d Shore Party Battalion and MCB-11. A ceremony was scheduled but was cancelled due to the proximity of the elections. It is understood that the Hoa Vang District Chief has nominated these units and a number of individuals for awards in view of their extraordinary efforts on behalf of his people.

3. Resettlement. During September significant progress was made in the resettlement of refugees from the Dai Loc area. The project at An My (3)/Phu Bai is virtually complete and has become a showpiece. Another project is well under way at Phu Trung, also in Loc Thanh village, and the structures already have been framed. The project at Ai Dong in Loc Phong village is well underway. A CAC has been formed and is in place; land has been cleared and construction of homes is about to start. The pace of these projects has been forced by the battalion on the scene (2/3) but the District government is now a willing participant.

4. Mid-Autumn Festival. This Vietnamese holiday is given over to the children and it is traditional that they receive gifts on this day. The Division made every attempt to assist GVN officials in making this a memorable occasion. Approximately 25,000 items were assembled including toys, candy, clothing, athletic gear, etc. and were distributed to units in all TAORs. There was every indication that the numerous parties and ceremonies which were held, helped to build the image of the officials in the eyes of their people as well as reflecting credit on the Marines who assisted.

1. SITUATION

a. General. THUONG DUC and KHE SANH Special Forces Camps are located in remote and relatively inaccessible locations. This isolation allows the Viet Cong and/or NVA to prepare detailed attack plans and marshal substantial forces over a relatively long period of time in an attempt to overrun a particular camp before relief can arrive on the scene. Experience indicates that Viet Cong and/or NVA attacks are most likely to occur during periods of low visibility when our air support capabilities are restricted. It must also be assumed that the Viet Cong will establish ambushes along major avenues of approach likely to be used by ground relief forces, and will interdict helicopter landing zones. Therefore, survival of the camps is dependent upon early detection of a threat, or the speed with which artillery, air and/or ground support can be rendered.

* 278th Co	AT 8667 (HIEU DUC-HOA VANG)	Unk

* Denotes probable units; others are accepted as confirmed by this Headquarters.

b. Armament. The exact inventory of weapons possessed by the above units is unknown. The armament of a battalion sized unit is normally 81 mortars, 60 mortars, 57 RR, heavy and light machine guns, automatic weapons and small arms. Company-size units are normally armed with one or two 60 mortars, possibly one or two 57 RR, and small arms to include automatic weapons. In addition, the VC are known to have a wide spread mining and demolition capability. The mortar attack on 25 January 1966 against USMC positions in the DANANG airbase area confirmed the existence of 120mm mortars in the I Corps Tactical Zone.

c. Enemy Capabilities.

(1) The enemy capability to conduct road interdiction through mining and demolition operations generally along the entire Route #1 is acknowledged. However, it is anticipated that the VC will limit their road and bridge destruction to the extent consistent with meeting specific military objectives in ambush/attack operations against selected convoys in order to preserve main LOC's for their own future use. The VC capability to conduct simultaneous and multiple convoy ambush operations at critical areas (See paragraph (2) below) exists; however, this is unlikely because of the restriction on the number of military convoys that are likely to be moving at any one time. Further, unless in concert with larger tactical operations against friendly forces, particularly those aimed at destruction of large-sized relief forces, the VC effort directed towards eliminating nuisance convoys will probably be secondary to that of destruction of key US/ARVN installations, facilities, and combat forces. However, the significant psychological victory derived from the decisive destruction of a USMC convoy may motivate the VC to ambush/attack a convoy once its convoy procedure is known.

(2) VC forces available and capable of conducting road interdiction, harassments, ambush or attack of military convoys along Route #1 are shown by road sections delineated by the checkpoints contained in Annex C (Checkpoints).

* Does not include small guerrilla units capable of harassing the route.

(3) The above units must be given the capability of extending their operations into adjacent areas, on short notice, if required.

d. Probable Courses of Action.

(1) Initially, the VC may be expected to provide minimal overt resistance other than harassments by sniper fire, random mortar fire, physical road interdiction, and mining to test convoy reactions.

(2) Upon assessment of strength, composition, fire support, and actions of USMC convoys, the VC are capable of an ambush at a selected site in a critical area (see paragraph 2 below) with the combined use of extensive road mining and limited road sabotage with the concentrated combat power, including recoilless rifles and rocket launchers, required to accomplish the mission.

2. CHARACTERISTICS OF THE AREA OF OPERATIONS.

DECKHOUSE IV TACTICAL DECEPTION

1. IN VIEW OF CURRENT SPECULATION WITHIN A LARGE PORTION OF THE PRESS AND TO SOME EXTENT IN DIPLOMATIC CIRCLES CONCERNING THE POSSIBILITY OF AMPHIBIOUS LANDINGS NORTH OF THE DMZ IN NORTH VIETNAM, IT IS CONSIDERED THAT AN AMPHIBIOUS DEMONSTRATION AT SOME SEAWARD POSITION NORTH OF THE DMZ IN CONNECTION WITH DECKHOUSE IV HAS CERTAIN MERIT.

2. A SHOW OF FORCE OF THIS TYPE FOR TACTICAL DECEPTION PURPOSES COULD REASONABLY BE EXPECTED TO KEEP NVA FORCES OFF BALANCE, TO DEMONSTRATE CERTAIN SIGNIFICANT US/FWMAF CAPABILITIES, AND MAY DELUDE THE NVA INTO A COURSE OF ACTION UNFAVORABLE TO HIM.

3. RECOMMEND THAT SUCH AN AMPHIBIOUS DEMONSTRATION BE CONSIDERED FOR INCLUSION IN DECKHOUSE IV.
