His Excellency
Woodrow Wilson,
President U. S. A.

Dear Sir: May I venture to suggest, anent the attempt of Mrs Harriet Stanton Blatch to step over the heads of the legally appointed and duly qualifield officers of your able and honest administration, in the brazen effort to get you to assume and discharge ~~their~~ duties for them, that had she been as flagrantly guilty of crime and infractions of the laws of a friendly nation as the Panthurst, she would not only have failed in the immunity of which she preates, but would herself have been denied admittance to a countrey which, while free to all but criminals, is not and never can be free to them?

We have enough of the domestic brand already, reinforced by such foreigners as have evaded our laws and been smuggled in, without importing any more. Our own Shaw, et id omnes genus, is about all we can stand at present;
for God's sake save us from Pankhurst!

Respectfully yours,

Chas. N. Regua.
