NARRATIVE SUMMARY

UNCLASSIFIED

1. General Overview of all Activities

a. On 4 October 1969, Third Battalion, Fourth Marines assumed the mission as Base Defense Coordinator of the Dong Ha Combat Base. The defensive perimeter was composed of units from the Army, Marine and Navy organizations stationed at the Dong Ha Combat Base. During the month of October, one company was assigned to the North Bank of the Cua Viet River A/O, with the mission of providing security for the Cua Viet River and Jones Creek tributary. At various times, other companies of the Battalion were under the operational control of either Second Battalion, Fourth Marines, or the First Brigade, Fifth Infantry Division (Mech).

b. On 5 November 1969, Third Battalion, Fourth Marines was relieved as Base Defense Coordinator of Dong Ha Combat Base by the First Brigade, Fifth Infantry Division (Mech).

c. During the period 5-20 November 1969, the Battalion remained at Dong Ha Combat Base in a "stand down" status, while preparing equipment for embarkation to Okinawa. On 10 November 1969, the Advance Party departed Quang Tri for Okinawa.

d. On 20 November 1969, the Battalion commenced movement by truck to the Quang Tri Combat Base, where they were airlifted to Da Nang and embarked aboard the USS TRIPOLI (LPH 10). While on board, the Battalion completed training and indoctrination in preparation for deployment on Okinawa. Third Battalion, Fourth Marines arrived on Okinawa on 24 November 1969, after more than four years of combat service in the Republic of Vietnam.

e. From 24-30 November 1969, the Battalion received special classes from the Provost Marshal and the Preventive Medicine Section from Third Medical Battalion. The Battalion continued to work on the improvement of living and working areas in garrison.

f. From 1-31 December 1969, the Battalion conducted training in general military subjects for the transition from a combat environment to a garrison environment.

2. Intelligence

a. In early October, units of the Battalion operated in a field environment, and the only contacts with the enemy were limited to small scale sapper attacks and occasional rocket and mortar fire. While in the defense of Dong Ha Combat Base, the only incidents of enemy activity were the use of booby traps, and [illegible] limited scale ambushes of vehicles on the highways at night.

b. Weather
The weather for the month of October varied from clear and warm early in the month, to rainy and cold late in October and on through November. The average temperatures for this period were a high of 87° and a low of 74°.

4. Supporting Arms

a. Air

(1) During the month of October 1969, helicopter and fixed wing support continued as needed to support the limited Battalion operations. Area of greatest usage was in fragged troop lifts. During the period, a total of ten (10) troop lift requests were submitted, transporting a total of 1001 passengers. The entire period of this report involved limited combat operations with the Battalion working out of Dong Ha Combat Base. No period of increased activity occurred during the month, and there was no requirement for ordnance expenditure in support of these operations.

5. Logistics

a. Logistics

(1) On 5 October, 1969, the advance party from the S-4 and Mess Section moved from Vandegrift Combat Base to Dong Ha Combat Base to set up billeting and messing arrangements for the Battalion, which commenced movement on 7 October. This move was completed on the afternoon of 10 October. During the movement, the resupply of companies in the field continued. In the last part of October, resupply of companies by helicopter became more of a burden, because of the non-availability of helicopters. Upon standing down on 5 November, the Battalion embark section continued planning for the redeployment of this unit. The Battalion was also engaged in the process of policing up their areas in the field, which included Dong Ha Mountain, Qua Viet, Khe Gio Bridge, and Dong Ha Combat Base lines. All of these areas were inspected by the Division inspector prior to departure.

(2). On 15 November, the Battalion was completely packed and ready to load out. On the night of the 15th, the Battalion commenced loading of all vehicles and cargo at the Dong Ha Ramp for shipment to the Da Nang Pier. This move was completed by mid-morning of the 16th. On 25 November, the Battalion commenced drawing and requesting garrison type prpperty to set up the Battalion for garrison duty. On 1 December 1969, LTI's were started on all motor transport, communication and ordnance equipment. These LTI's were completed by 23 December 1969.

b. Supply

(1) From the period of 1 October 1969 until 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines left Vietnam for Okinawa, Supply issued 638 pairs of jungle boots, 3,918 pairs of socks, 330 entrenching tools, 290 gas masks, 135 first aid packs, 680 ponchos, 200 poncho liners, 153 helmets, and 395 haversacks. This high rate of usage on 782 gear was due to the surveying of gear in preparation for redeployment to Okinawa. Prior to departing Vietnam, the Battalion was supplied with stateside utilities and boots, which were issued to the troops. 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines arrived on Okinawa with approximately 87% of its T/E items in Battalion Supply. The T/E deficiencies were immediately requisitioned, and a program was established for the return of repairable items. The Budget for the last half of Fiscal Year 1970, all of Fiscal Year 1971 and 1972 was prepared at this time.

c. Transportation

(1) In early October, the Motor Transport Section commenced movement from Vandegrift Combat Base to Dong Ha Combat Base. Movement of the Motor Transport section was completed on 8 October 1969.

(2) On November 4, 1969, the Motor Transport Section started cleaning vehicles for redeployment to Okinawa. The cleaning was done at a rate of three (3) M274 LTVC's per day, three (3) M416 trailers per day, and two (2) M151 trucks per day.

6. Medical Section

a. During the months of October, November, and December 1969, the medical department treated a total of 3,200 patients. During the month of October, three (3) Med-Caps were conducted in villages in the Qua Viet area, treating over 300 villagers.

b. During the first half of November 1969, all immunization required for the Battalion departure for Okinawa was administered. During December, 1969, ten (10) hours of instruction on first aid, personal hygiene, venereal disease, and treatment for shock was given to the Battalion.

7. Communications-Electronics

a. On 5 October 1969, 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines took over Base Defense of Dong Ha Combat Base. Good communication was maintained with all companies on the lines, and in the Qua Viet A/O. A special Base switchboard was installed in the COC Bunker, and lines were laid to provide wire communications to the Company Command Posts, 81mm Mortar Sections, and other defense requirements on the perimeter, including Sparrow Hawk.

b. The rifle companies normally had thirteen (13) radios each. This was increased to fifteen (15) in Dong Ha. Also two (2) companies were given cipher capabilities with the PRC-77/KY-38. However, this proved impractical for the limited requirements for cipher. The Battalion received five (5) new PRC-77's prior to leaving Vandegrift Combat Base making this experiment possible.

c. In preparation for embarkation and redeployment, most of the mount-out boxes were replaced with new boxes, painted and tac-marked. An LTI was held on all PRC-88's, and they were turned in. The MRC-87 was invoiced to 3rd Force Recon, and five (5) AS-2236 Log Periodic Antennas were invoiced to FLSG-B.

d. In Okinawa, LTI inspections were established to maintain and improve upon the condition of the communication equipment. Also, the Division Communications Electrical Chief was called to work with the Battalion Communication Section in establishing a good maintenance program. An inter-communications cross training program has been established, and communication refresher courses for all communications personnel.

e. In the Republic of Vietnam, it was discovered that Gold Marathron BA-386 batteries work inadequately in cipher gear. The parts for TA-1/PT telephone sets and H-189/PRC handsets were very scarce and were the cause for much down time. Elements for this equipment should be readily available in a combat zone. Also the A-9 module for the PRC-25 should be a second echelon maintenance repair part.

8. Training

During the month of November 1969, a limited training program was conducted at the Dong Ha Combat Base. Its main orientation was information on Okinawa. Once on Okinawa, the Battalion conducted an intensive program on basic general military subjects (i.e. close order drill, military courtesy (See enclosure (4) Part IV).

(9) During the period from 1 through 5 November 1969, artillery support was tailored to meet 3rd Battalion, 4th Marines line and limited offensive mission in the Dong Ha Combat Base A/O. Maximum use was made of H&I fire, but few Forward Observer initiated missions were necessary.

(10) Direct support was provided by "M" Battery, 4/12 with "W" 3/12 ingeneral support. Calls for fire were submitted directly to the 4/12 FDC. 3rd Marine Division FSCC was the central clearing agency.

(11) The 61 team (Co I) was returned to the battery 29 October 1969 to stand down.

(12) The 62 team (Co K) operated in the southwestern portion of the Dong Ha Combat Base A/O, and on the Dong Ha Combat Base perimeter. Team 62 accompanied the Rapid Reaction Platoon on the Cua Viet insert on 3 November 1969.

(13) The 63 team (Co L) operated in the southwestern portion of the Dong Ha Combat Base A/O and on the Dong Ha Combat Base perimeter.

(14) The 64 team (Co M) operated in the southwestern portion of the Dong Ha Combat Base A/O and on the Dong Ha Combat Base perimeter.

(15) On 3 November 1969, the Base Defense Rapid Reaction Platoon was inserted in the western portion of the Cua Viet A/O to exploit contact made by a recon team with two (2) squads of NVA. The landing zone and surrounding area received forty (40) minutes of continuous artillery preparation prior to the troop landing. The fires were coordinated by 4/12.

(b) COMUSMACV msg 280200Z/Aug69 (NOTAL)
(c) Annex D to 3dMarDiv Administrative Order 2-69

Time Zone: H

1. PURPOSE

a. To provide instructions for the decontamination of equipment and material being retrograded from Vietnam in order to prevent the exportation of insect vectors, rodent, reservoirs of disease and agricultural pests. The instructions herein contain procedures to assure compliance with references (a) and (b) and U. S. Department of Agriculture and U. S. Public Health Service quarantine regulations.

2. BASIC PRINCIPLES

a. Pests of public health and agricultural importance can be expected on cargo and equipment being redeployed or retrograded. These pests can be carried in soil, mud and on plant debris, in trash and litter, in wood crating and packing, on rats and other rodents, and in any place where insects can hide.

b. To prevent the possible exportation of these pests and their introduction into other areas, these basic procedures must be followed:

(1) A thorough cleaning of all equipment and containers.

(2) The use of insecticides to kill insect pests.

(3) The use of rodenticides to kill rodents.

c. The basic theory of rat and flea control in cargo and equipment is done in three phases:

(1) Enclosing or trapping the rodent in an area free of food.

(2) Providing food in form of rodenticides to kill the rodents.

(3) Treatment of the area with insecticides to kill vectors carried by rodents.

3. PROCEDURES FOR PREPARATION OF CARGO AND EQUIPMENT FOR SHIPMENT OUT OF VIETNAM

a. Cleaning and Washing

(1) Responsibilities. Company commanders/section heads will ensure that the following is accomplished prior to the semi-final inspection by Preventive Medicine Unit and the Agricultural Department on 15 November 1969.

(a) Remove all plant matter (living or dead) from inside and outside of equipment, vehicles and containers.

(b) Remove clumps of soil before washing equipment, vehicles and conex boxes.

(c) After accomplishing (b) above, thoroughly wash down vehicle and equipment with high pressure water to remove all soil and caked mud. Pressure steam cleaners may be used.

(d) All highly impacted dirt, i.e., sand and peneprime (sand that is imbeded in the road sealer) which remains after high pressure cleaning is acceptable. Peneprime over clumps of soil is not acceptable.

(e) Accumulation of road splatter or dust may be removed by a final washdown at POE's.

(f) Cargo and equipment that does not lend itself to washing will be mechanically cleaned.

(g) Straw, plant fiber or mattresses will not be used as packing material.

(h) Termite infested boxes and crates will not be accepted. Broken or split boards on boxes and crates should be replaced or securely repaired.

b. Insect and Rodent Control

(1) Responsibilities. Company commanders/section heads will ensure that the following is accomplished prior to the final inspection on 17 November 1969.

(a) Prior to applying insecticides and rodenticides ensure that a thorough and complete cleaning of vehicles and equipment is completed to remove all food, trash and any other substance that can harbor insects and rodents.

(b) While packing equipment and boxes in conex boxes or other large boxes (16 cu ft or larger) in which rats might take refuge, Rodenticide (paraffin - Diphacin bait blocks with eight foot binding tape, FSN 6840-089-4664) will be placed prior to closing of containers. The application rate is as follows: one block each, with 2" to 18" of the binding tape visible outside the container.

c. Each container requiring rodenticide blocks will be dusted with two percent diazinon dust (FSN 6840-753-5038) for flea control. The rate of control is four pounds per 1000 square feet. This rate produces a barely visible film on flat surfaces. Excessive application is a serious health hazard and will not be accepted until recleaned.

d. Provide adequate assistance to Preventive Medicine Unit personnel to accomplish treatment of equipment and containers.

e. When required assign personnel for battalion working parties for final vehicle, equipment, and/or conex box washdown at POE's.
