Event: Telephonic interview of Tony Hollick.

Investigation conducted by: Marco A. Cordero

In response to a call from Tony Hollick to the commission, Commissioner staffer Marco A. Cordero contacted Tony Hollick, a British citizen, born in 1942 at telephone number 01144-117-909-8918 on June 18, 2004.

Hollick advised that he contacted the 9-11 commission to advise them about two video attachments he sent via e-mail to the commission's web-site address, info @9-11 commission.gov on June 16, 2004. Hollick advised one of these videos would demonstrate to the commission that the collapse of the towers of the World Trade Center (WTC) was not caused by the intense heat of the jet fuel but rather by the explosion of military shaped charges which were placed behind the vertical external steel supports and the explosion of massive explosive devices at the base of the WTC. Hollick advised that politics were involved in this plot and firmly believes Attorney General Ashcroft is the mastermind of this plot because "General Ashcroft has the covert and overt units of the military and the counterintelligence and intelligence resources under his control".

Hollick also advised that the second video would demonstrate that the damage to the Pentagon was not the result of a commercial airliner crashing into it, but rather the result of a missile attack which was fired by either a "Global Hawk or an F-16 prior to crashing into the building". Hollick advised that a commercial airliner would have caused a much larger hole and caused much more damage. He also found it inconceivable for a "Boeing to completely vaporize and for the black boxes to survive the fire. When asked what he thought happened to the hi-jacked plane, Hollick advised that the plane may have never existed, stating that it was a phantom plane or that the "FBI faked the flight". If a plane was hi-jacked he theorized that the plane was purposely crashed into the Atlantic Ocean where it is currently sitting at the bottom.

Hollick believes the FBI was involved in this plot adding that John O'Neal, former retired FBI agent who was working as the director of security for the WTC, either collaborated with the explosive experts (responsible for the placement of the military shaped charges in WTC) or turned a blind eye to the placement of these explosive charges.

Hollick asked that the commission confirm the receipt of his e-mail because he is concerned the FBI may have intercepted his e-mail. He is convinced the FBI may have intercepted the message through FBI's use of "frontending" which he described as an intelligence operation by which the FBI uses a company name as a front to covertly obtain/intercept information from the public.
