Memorandum for the Record

Event: Telephonic conversation with Dave Klotzman, telephone number (719) 35-3732.

Call made by: Marco A. Cordero, Commission staffer.

Date of Telephone call: July 26, 2004

On July 26, 2004, Commission staffer Graham Giusti advised Commission staffer Marco A. Cordero that an individual identified as Dave Klotzman, telephone number (719) 635-3732 had been contacting Commission staffer Al Felzenberg telephonically, leaving messages which contained vicious anti Semitic epithets. Guisti asked Cordero to contact Klotzman to ascertain whether he had any information of interest which he wanted to pass on to the Commission.

On July 26, 2004, Cordero called Mr. Klotzman's telephone number and an answering machine picked up. Cordero did not leave a message, deciding it would be best to speak directly to Mr. Klotzman. Upon hanging up, Mr. Klotzman returned Cordero's phone call. Cordero identified himself to Mr. Klotzman and told him he was calling on behalf of the Commission and in response to his messages to Felzenberg. Mr. Klotzman advised that he had been attempting to contact someone from team 8. Mr. Klotzman advised that he had begun to read the Commission's report and was disappointed to notice that the Commission had continued to "cover up" the real issues. Mr. Klotzman stated that he had provided Felzenberg with information which suggested the Pentagon was initially struck by a missile and later crashed into by the fighter jet which shot the missile. Cordero advised Mr. Klotzman that the Commission had previously received very similar information. Mr. Klotzman advised that he did not believe the Commission had adequately complied with its mandate if it refused to consider the missile attack. Cordero advised him that the Commission had reviewed countless documents to complete its work and that the report reflected the Commission's findings. Mr. Klotzman advised the book was incorrect and demanded to speak to someone who could answer his questions, specifically someone from team 8 because he knew issues were ignored. Cordero advised him that he would be unable to speak to anyone from team 8 and he would also not be allowed to see the investigative reports which were used to draft the Commission's report. Cordero asked Mr. Klotzman to use more diplomacy and restraint when contacting Felzenberg as Felzenberg and the Commission receive numerous phone calls from countless citizens. Mr. Klotzman advised that he would be more diplomatic when contacting the Commission staff. Phone call lasted approximately 26 minutes.
