Greetings,

Cheerful looking faces around the campus are indicative of the fruitful years at Chilocco Indian School which I am proud of. We have had our trying times testing our strengths and weaknesses, and we did not falter. This I am also proud of in the student body.

The school spirit has been turned on by the silent majority of the student body. Win or lose, smooth sailing or turbulent times, we have maintained our composure as a solid school body. This, too, I am proud of.

A reflection of the events of the past several months indicates achievements by all. I believe each of you can make an evaluation and see an improvement over the past: this is an achievement. Time is still ahead for keeping pace and not retrogressing. We may add to our achievements, tools to use in the future. Keep in mind, however, the tools gathered now are stepping stones into future worlds. It is a broad world, and of challenging opportunity to decide on a challenging you will have opportunity route of your own.

At this point I wish to challenge each of you especially the graduating Seniors. I recall from a year ago the commencement address of Chilocco graduate Overton Cheadle. He talked about the "Crossroads in Life". He talked of the road that has been heavily traveled and the road that is seldom traveled. The majority took the heavily traveled road, and the leaders took the road that was least traveled. I echo his Challenge, and challenge each of you to take the least traveled path to leadership. There will be turbulence in this path, but you have the composure and ability acquired out of your heritage to prevail. There are no immediate rewards on this path; but, in time, the satisfactions and successes on this path add up. I do fervently hope you try it.

I wish to thank the staff members who assisted the students in putting this Chiloccoan Yearbook of '77 together. I am very proud of the great work you have exhibited again.

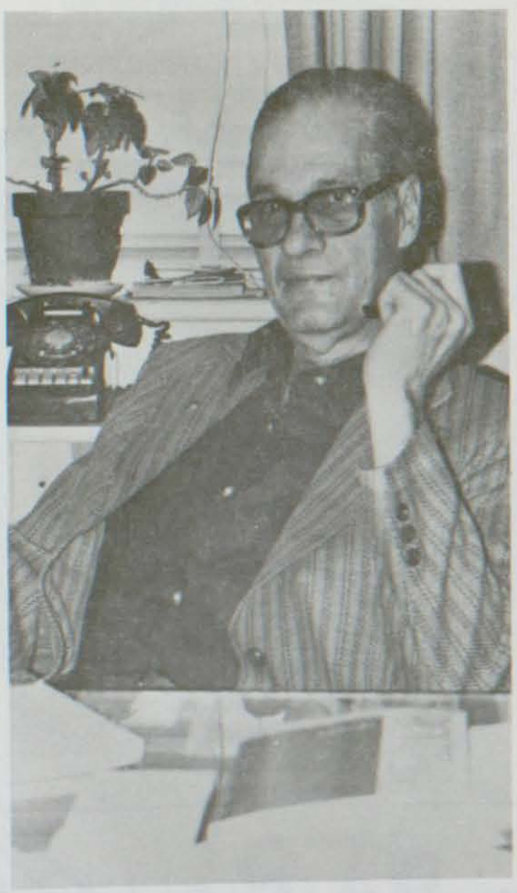
Thousands of people will look at this book, and I want them to know that no less than ninety percent of the work on compiling the finished yearbook is done by Indian students of Chilocco Indian School, members of the Printing Class and the Yearbook Class who exhibit their journalistic abilities for all to cherish.

Jimmy Baker, Superintendent
—Class of 1960

"Opportunity knocks but once"

Your opportunity for an education is here at Chilocco Indian School, and the time is now. I hope that in some way I have been able to help you with your education. Over the years I have tried to point out the many advantages that an education will bring you. Your ability to succeed in today's changing world will depend on your education. The kind of a job that you have, the amount of income that you will receive, and the enjoyment that you get from your work will all depend on the education that you have.

Education is a basic need of our modern society. The fundamentals of reading, mathematics, science, and the English language will help you succeed. Without the mastery of these basic subjects you cannot succeed in the modern business world. There is no easy way to learn or master these subjects except by work and study.



Chilocco Indian School offers many opportunities to learn both your basic subjects and a vocation of your choice. Our departments are staffed with well-trained faculty members in all of the fields. Students are encouraged to attend their classes and do their best at all times. Guidance counselors, dormitory staff, and teachers all work with the students and encourage them to complete their high school work.

The future is yours to make of it what you wish. Success will not be easy, but it is within your grasp. Your work, your study, and the time you spent in your classrooms will determine how high you can reach or how far you can go. This is the "pay-off" of your years spent here at Chilocco. This school has provided you the opportunity, but you determine your own destiny.

I want to wish each and every graduate the very best in life. My wish to you is that you will always look back on your years at Chilocco Indian School as ones of enjoyment. To the many upperclassmen may you have a most enjoyable summer. I shall look forward to seeing you again this fall. Chilocco, school of opportunity, will be here to welcome you.
